Forest School for the Early Years

FOREST SCHOOL: OBSERVING PRACTICE FOR THE EARLY YEARS

Explore our magical, stimulating, relaxing, amazing, educational, safe and fun forest school!

This training aims to help practitioners to develop confidence in their own abilities to take learning outside. It will give an insight into how the outdoor environment can influence the all-round development of children. It will show how the outdoors develops self-esteem and confidence; how children can experience achievement through problem-solving, working in teams or independently; and how they can develop positive relationships, perseverance, imaginative and physical skills and build resilience.

Your facilitators will be experienced Level 3 Forest School Leaders.
